Kar Yong

Forex and market analyst, trading educator

I help retail traders make clearer, more independent decisions. I speak at seminars, expos, webinars and live streams in English or Mandarin, and I write a daily market report every weekday for Trading Dose members. My sessions show the reasoning behind every view: Direction, then Setup, then Context. Your audience leaves with a process they can use, not a tip to copy.

Talk topics

Direction, Setup, Context
Three checks before every trade, in a set order. For traders who keep switching strategies.

Seasonal trading on US stocks
When stocks have tended to move, how I trade those windows, and why history is not a forecast.

Reading the week ahead
The data and central banks that move the US dollar, gold and indices, and how to plan around them.

Market structure and entries
Swings, breaks of structure and entries, with the TradingView indicators I built.

Live market clinic
Today's charts, live: what I'd trade, what I'd skip and why.

For IBs and broker teams
Education-first client retention: clients who understand their trading stay longer.

Formats

Seminars and expos
Keynotes, panels, client events

Webinars and live streams
Single sessions or a series

Workshops
Half or full day, hands-on

English or Mandarin
Slides in either language
